

Main-chance father you meant, but I meant Maine,
Which I will win from France, or else be slaine.

Exit Warwick, and Salisbury. Manet Yorke.

Yorke. Aniou and Maine are given to the French,
Paris is lost, the state of Normandie
Stands on a tickle point, now they are gone:
Suffolke concluded on the Articles,
The Peeres agreed, and Henry was well pleas'd,
To change two Dukedomes for a Dukes faire daughter.
I cannot blame them all, what is 't to them?

'Tis thine they give away, and not their owne.
Pirates may make cheape penyworths of their pillage,
And purchase Friends, and give to Curtezans,
Still reuelling like Lords till all be gone,
While as the silly Owner of the goods
Weepes ouer them, and wrings his haplesse hands,
And shakes his head, and trembling stands aloofe,
While all is shar'd, and all is borne away,

Ready to sterue, and dare not touch his owne.
So Yorke must sit, and fret, and bite his tongue,
While his owne Lands are bargain'd for, and sold:
Me thinks the Realmes of England, France, & Ireland,
Beare that proportion to my flesh and blood,
As did the fatal brand Alban burnt,
Vnto the Princes heart of Calidon:

Aniou and Maine both given vnto the French:
Cold newes for me: for I had hope of France,
Euen as I haue of fertile Englands soile.

A day will come, when Yorke shall claime his owne,
And therefore I will take the Neuils parts,
And make a shew of loue to proud Duke Humfrey,
And when I spy aduantage, claime the Crowne,
For that's the Golden marke I seeke to hit:
Nor shall proud Lancaster vsurpe my right,
Nor hold the Scepter in his childish fist,

Nor weare the Diadem vpon his head,
Whose Church-like humors fits not for a Crowne.
Then Yorke be still a-while, till time do serue:
Watch thou, and wake when others be asleepe,

To pricke into the secrets of the State,
Till Henrie surfering in ioyes of loue,
With his new Bride, & Englands deere bought Queen,
And Humfrey with the Peeres be false at iarres:

Then will I raise aloft the Milke-white-Rose,
With whose sweet smell the Ayre shall be perfum'd,
And in my Standard beare the Armes of Yorke,
To grapple with the house of Lancaster,

And force perforce Ile make him yeeld the Crowne,
Whose bookeish Rule, hath pull'd faire England downe.

Exit Yorke.

Enter Duke Humfrey and his wife Elianor.

Elian. Why droopes my Lord like ouer-ripen'd Corn,
Hanging the head at Ceres plenteous load?

Why doth the Great Duke Humfrey knit his browes,
As frowning at the Fauours of the world?

Why are thine eyes fixt to the sullen earth,
Gazing on that which seemes to dimme thy sight?

What seest thou there? King Henries Diadem,
Inhauc'd with all the Honors of the world?

If so, Gaze on, and grouell on thy face,
Vntill thy head be circled with the fame.

Put forth thy hand, reach at the glorious Gold;
What, is't too thort? Ile lengthen it with mine,

And hauing both together heau'd it vp,
Wee'l both together lift our heads to heauen,

And neuer more abase our sight so low,

As to vouchsafe one glance vnto the ground.

Hum. O Nell, sweet Nell, if thou dost loue thy Lord,
Banish the Canker of ambitious thoughts:
And may that thought, when I imagine ill
Against my King and Nephew, vertuous Henry,
Be my last breathing in this mortall world.
My troublous dreames this night, doth make me sad.

Eli. What dream'd my Lord, tell me, and Ile requite it
With sweet rehearsal of my mornings dreame?

Hum. Me thought this staffe mine Office-badge in Court

Was broke in twaine: by whom, I haue forgot,
But as I thinke, it was by th Cardinall,
And on the peeces of the broken Wand
Were plac'd the heads of Edmond Duke of Somerset,
And William de la Pole first Duke of Suffolke.
This was my dreame, what it doth bode God knowes.

Eli. Tut, this was nothing but an argument,
That he that breakes a stick of Glosters groue,
Shall loose his head for his presumption.
But list to me my Humfrey, my sweete Duke:
Me thought I fate in Seate of Maiessty,
In the Cathedrall Church of Westminster,
And in that Chaire where Kings & Queens wer crown'd,
Where Henrie and Dame Margaret kneel'd to me,
And on my head did set the Diadem.

Hum. Nay Elianor, then must I chide outright:
Presumptuous Dame, ill-nurter'd Elianor,
Art thou not second Woman in the Realme?

And the Protector's wife belou'd of him?
Hast thou not worldly pleasure at command,
About the reach or compass of thy thought?

And wilt thou still be hammering Treachery,
To tumble downe thy husband, and thy selfe,
From top of Honor, to Disgraces scete?

Away from me, and let me heare no more.

Elian. What, what, my Lord? Are you so cholericke
With Elianor, for telling but her dreame?

Next time Ile keepe my dreames vnto my selfe,
And not be check'd.

Hum. Nay be not angry, I am pleas'd againe.
Enter Messenger.

Mess. My Lord Protector, 'tis his Highnes pleasure,
You do prepare to ride vnto S. Albons,

Where as the King and Queene do meane to Hawke,
Hu. I go, Come Nell thou wilt ride with vs? Ex. Hum.

Eli. Yes my good Lord, Ile follow presently.

Follow I must, I cannot go before,
While Gloster beares this base and humble minde,

Were I a Man, a Duke, and next of blood,
I would remoue these tedious stumbling blockes,

And smooth my way vpon their headlesse neckes.
And being a woman, I will not be slacke

To play my part in Fortunes Pageant.
Where are you there? Sir John, nay feare not man,

We are alone, here's none but thee, & I. Enter Hum.

Hum. Iesus preserue your Royall Maiessty.

Elian. What saist thou? Maiessty: I am but Grace.

Hum. But by the grace of God, and Humes aduice,
Your Graces Title shall be multiplied.

Elian. What saist thou man? Hast thou as yet confer'd
With Margerie Jordane the cunning Witch,

With Roger Bollingbrooke the Coniurer?
And wilt they undertake to do me good?

Hum. This they haue promised to shew your Highnes
A Spirit rais'd from depth of vnder ground,

That

That shall make answer to such Questions,
As by your Grace shall be propounded him.
Elianor. It is enough, Ile thinke vpon the Questions:
When from Saint Albons we doe make returne,
Wee'll see these things effected to the full.
Here Hum, take this reward, make merry man
With thy Confederates in this weightie cause.

Exit Elianor.

Hum. Hum must make merry with the Duchesse Gold:
Marry and shall: but how now, Sir John Hum?

Seale vp your Lips, and giue no words but Mum,
The businesse asketh silent secrecie.

Dame Elianor giues Gold, to bring the Witch:
Gold cannot come amisse, were the a Deuill.

Yet haue I Gold flies from another Coast:
I dare not say, from the rich Cardinall,

And from the great and new-made Duke of Suffolke;
Yet I doe finde it so: for to be plaine,

They (knowing Dame Elianors aspiring humor)
Haue hyred me to vnder-mine the Duchesse,

And buzze these Coniurations in her brayne.
They say, A craftie Knaue do's need no Broker,

Yet am I Suffolke and the Cardinalls Broker.
Hum, if you take not heed, you shall goe neere

To call them both a payre of craftie Knaues.
Well, so it stands: and thus I feare at last,

Hum, Knauerie will be the Duchesse Wracke,
And her Attainture, will be Humphreys fall:

Sort how it will, I shall haue Gold for all. Exit

Enter three or foure Petitioners, the Armorer's Man being one.

1. Pet. My Masters, let's stand close, my Lord Protector will come this way by and by, and then wee may deliuer our Supplications in the Quill.

2. Pet. Marry the Lord protect him, for hee's a good man, Iesu blesse him.

Enter Suffolke, and Queene.

Peter. Here a comes me thinks, and the Queene with him: Ile be the first sure.

3. Pet. Come backe foole, this is the Duke of Suffolke, and not my Lord Protector.

Suff. How now fellow: would'st any thing with me?

1. Pet. I pray my Lord pardon me, I tooke ye for my Lord Protector.

Queene. To my Lord Protector? Art your Supplications to his Lordship? Let me see them: what is thine?

1. Pet. Mine is, and't please your Grace, against John Goodman, my Lord Cardinals Man, for keeping my Houfe, and Lands, and Wife and all, from me.

Suff. Thy Wife too? that's some Wrong indeede.
What's yours? What's heere? Against the Duke of Suffolke, for enclosing the Commons of Melforde. How now, Sir Knaue?

2. Pet. Alas Sir, I am but a poore Petitioner of our whole Towneship.

Peter. Against my Master Thomas Horner, for saying,
That the Duke of Yorke was rightfull Heire to the Crowne.

Queene. What say'st thou? Did the Duke of Yorke say, hee was rightfull Heire to the Crowne?

Peter. That my Mistrresse was? No forsooth: my Master said, That he was, and that the King was an Vsurper.

Suff. Who is there?

Enter

Take this fellow in, and send uant presently: wee'll heare the King.
